

Through its global advocacy campaign 'Stop the Violence: speak out for girls' rights, the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts (WAGGGS) will reach over five million girls and mobilise them to end violence against girls. Girl Guides and Girl Scouts across the world are working on local action projects, delivering education programmes, lobbying decision-makers, raising awareness and conducting research to tackle violence against girls in their communities.

STOP
THE VIOLENCE

Speak out for girls' rights

STOP the tide: Tackling adolescent dating violence

Tuesday 5 March

10:30 – 12:00

Church Centre, 10th Floor

Panellists from WAGGGS, Soroptimist International, Take back the Tech and US Department of State

Come and hear more about effective solutions in addressing adolescent dating violence from people working on the issue.

From Girl Child to Mature Woman: A Life Course Approach to Gender Empowerment and Violence-free Life

Thursday 7 March

10:30 -12:00

Salvation Army, Auditorium

Panellists from WAGGGS, Soroptimist International and World YWCA

Participate in discussions taking a holistic life-course approach to violence.

Stop the Violence: Girls at the frontlines of prevention

Thursday 7 March

13:15 - 14:30

North Lawn Building, Conference Room 7

Speakers from WAGGGS and UN Women

WAGGGS and UN Women will be launching their non-formal, co-educational curriculum on violence against girls: 'Voices against violence'. Find out how you can use this unique education programme.

World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts

www.stoptheviolencecampaign.com stoptheviolence@waggs.org

Soroptimist  International